

Stages of the Brain Blossom Program™

Starting stages are different for everybody and are not determined by age. An individual with any ability or age may begin their journey in any one of the five stages.

Remember, the flower can be impacted at any stage of its growth and still be functional and beautiful. An individual's starting stage is determined by the results of the Brain Blossom evaluation and a product of their growth history. An individual's starting Brain Blossom stage is not indicative of an individual's current function or intelligence. It is a window into areas with potential room for growth and strengthening therefor leading to increased improvement in overall function.

As an individual progresses through the program they may advance through the stages. Every stage can help every person and strengthening helps build more resilience.
